A motion to approve the draft minutes of October 28, 2103 was made first by Rebecca and second by Braxton. The minutes of October 28, 2013 were approved as amended.
Trustee's Update	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Further news will be brought to ASAC after the Canadian government elections.
Superintendent's update	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Very few secondary alternative schools start at grade 9. There are a few elementary alternative schools with transition pathways for their students. Alternative Secondary schools belong to a Family of Schools area with other regular schools. There are many reasons for students choosing another secondary school outside the alternative school system. The difference between alternative secondary and specialized schools offering specialized areas of study is that alternative schools serve niches of diverse cultures (eg. social needs) and high-needs areas (eg. Credits, pedagogy, section programming, Sections schools and Community schools, Schools of Choice, Focus schools,), but the pathway from grade 8 to grade 9 is missing. STUDENT PATHWAYS: Different Alternative Schools of interest have differentiated transition pathways for students and some involve interview intake and lottery-based enrolments. Develop pathways for transitioning before students choose a school to prepare solutions to issues around programming. Staff Undertaking: The Optional Attendance policy is currently being reviewed with a lens to improving pathway choices and staff will undertake to bring consultation to ASAC through PIAC. 	Staff to consult with ASAC on Optional Attendance Policy. Staff to forward student transition facts to ASAC chairs.

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Staff Undertaking: Manon Gardner will undertake to forward the facts and numbers to ASAC chairs.
Stakeholder Participating in hiring	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Parents, teachers and students should be involved in the hiring and selection of principals for alt. schools. Hiring and selection of principals/vice principals is a continuing challenge. Working with elementary co-chair on procedures and concerns to select an elementary principal requires an SSON procedure is open for discussion with the superintendents now that parent gave input on principal hiring via the School Statement of Needs (SSON). It was suggested that students should have a separate form to give feedback for principal selection. It was suggested that parents should be approached by school to give input on principal selection. Parents, teachers and students should be involved in the hiring and selection of teachers for alt. schools. It would be nice if the practice was consistent. The Union for Teachers feels uncomfortable evaluating its own members, but the TDSB would welcome teachers being involved in the process. There is no policy or standard practice for the selection process. Allocations of teachers and Budget allocations within alt. schools remains a challenge. More Professional Development for alternative teachers is needed. Professional Development with other alternative school teachers would be great. In some alt secondary schools, the principals survey the students for course interests before making teacher selections. It is expected that parents and students give feedback on their needs for principals and teachers at Student and Parent School Councils. It is challenging for principals when teachers get bumped into an alt school even though the teacher placed wants another school. TEACHER PATHWAYS: The discussion remained in the boardroom on transition pathways working toward having teachers and parents on hiring committees for teachers who become principals.  HIRING Committee was started to share ideas and guidelines for hiring teachers and principals at alternative schools. Members are: Helen Truong STAFF UNDERTAKING: Manon G. would be willing to bring the guidelines from Hiring Committee back to the department and senior staff. MOTION TO Board in discussion: ASAC recommends that an equivalent of an SSON for teachers and keep it optional. Staff UNDERTAKING: ASAC recommends that superintendents make principals aware that SSON for teachers is part of their responsibility. 	Manon G. would be willing to bring the guidelines from Hiring Committee back to the department and senior staff. Manon G. will remind superintendents to make principals aware that SSON for teachers is part of their responsibility.
Centralized superintendents	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Why are 4000 students distributed over a few superintendents? All elementary alternative schools are under supervision by superintendents. There is a challenge with decision 	To be continued

BrainFood Conference	CONFERENCE: York University had an alternative schooling conference: another conference is being organized around career transitions. York is planning an institute of Alternative Studies and requires data to support it. Perhaps TDSB should have an Alternative Schools conference with student-led workshops, researcher-led workshops, teacher-led workshops, parent-led workshops. Volunteers are required. Support from ASAC would be welcome. On May 5, 2014; 9am to 8pm at SEED Alternative school, the conference is planned to have student-led workshops and there are about 15 workshop proposals that were submitted by students. There is also a Parent Forum from 6pm-8pm. Members will help promote the event. New Business A) Membership B) 4 year plan on Mental Health	A) Memberships <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ There is a good attendance for staff and principals, but parent attendance is lacking. Principal attendance is new for ASAC this year and is welcome. Any concerns with meetings involving teachers and principals in the same room can be brought to the attention of co-chairs to plan future meetings, but ideally it would be good if all stakeholders within the alt. school system are present. ▪ Communication for meetings is key for principals to send to parent and co-chairs of Parent Councils. ▪ ASAC requests for volunteers to do recruit and share information. Please share, links with your school communities: ASAC has a new Facebook page, https://www.facebook.com/torontoasac; a twitter account https://twitter.com/torontoasac; a new email address torontoasac[at]gmail.com, and a website is in the works, the domain name is www.torontoasac.com a website using the wordpress platform is ready to go; ▪ ASAC has a blog, twitter and facebook accounts, but needs volunteers to work on those. ▪ Alternative Schools Advisory Committee on-line www.torontoasac.com ▪ on Facebook https://www.facebook.com/torontoasac ▪ on Twitter https://twitter.com/torontoasac ▪ Parents are encouraged to become involved in informal meetings. 	COMMUNICATION with CLOUD-COMPUTING STRATEGIES: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. AcademicWorkspace (AW) is an electronic cloud-computing platform being used by students and teachers of Toronto District School Board as a connection point to have discussions and forums. ASAC is welcome to share at that point so that ASAC can work with students to work on a website. GoogleApps can be offered to ASAC and ASAC is welcome to meet with Peter Singh and Manon Gardner to set that up to have forums, share documents, and post learning resources. 2. ASAC should be a source of information for Alternative Schools. Some schools struggle to maintain their Alternative School philosophies due to changes; some schools are in the process of redefining or reaffirming their philosophies. 3. Teachers need private conversations with other teachers on AW. Outside of AW, parents are expected to talk to other parents: Parents requested ASAC to provide some clarification/support for parents. Teachers are expected to talk to other teachers. Guidance counselors are expected to talk to other guidance counselors. Students are expected to talk to other students: Working towards changing the negative stigma to alternative schools. STEERING COMMITTEE: On October 17, ASAC met informally and discussed the formation of a Steering Committee. the steering committee will help outline the goals and direction for ASAC this year. Anyone is welcome to join the steering committee. If you'd like to join the steering committee, email torontoasac[at]gmail.com. CESBA (Continuing educators...) – Alternative programs are being attached to community programs. A database is being made to compile the programs. It could be used to address the Ministry of Education about alternative schools on the basis of pedagogy instead of curriculum. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ Discussion around sharing best practices with Alternative Schools to continue working together and collaboratively. Malcolm Levin/Alt. Professor at OISE is being recommended; he was responsible for setting up first conversation with the Ministry about recognizing alternative school as different/distinct. Some discussion around specific qualification/certification or course for teachers who wishes to teach in an alternative school. MOTION for ASAC: ASAC to write a letter to Ministry of Education to support alternative schools as a pathway for students, consequently with staff and funding support. All in favour.
